Date issued
Case number
Child(ren)'s name(s)	Child(ren)'s number(s)
Fee charged/Remission ID

If you have a child arrangements order (originally a contact order) that was made before 8 December 2008 you may apply for a warning notice to be attached to the child arrangements order. Your original order will be treated as a child arrangements order from 22 Apil 2014.

A warning notice explains that if a person does not comply with the child arrangements order the court may fine or imprison them for contempt of court, or may make an enforcement order or an order for financial compensation. You cannot apply for an enforcement order or for financial compensation regarding any person's failure to comply with the child arrangements order if this failure took place before that person had been given a copy of the order with the warning notice attached or informed of the terms of the warning notice.

1. About the current child arrangements order

The court can only proceed with this application if either the correct court case number or a copy of the order is submitted.
